I am the Library of the Future

I am a desk with pencils and colours to draw new ideas.

I am a garden to plant trees, flowers and to grow hope.

I am a stage to tell old stories and share new ones.

I am a portal to transport people to new worlds.

I am a treasure island where you can uncover new riches.

I am a round table that raises dialogue and conversation.

I am 10,000 books and more stories to be written.

I am a shelter from sadness and loneliness.

I am a playground to have fun and adventures with friends.

I am classroom to learn new things.

I am a diary to keep memories and stories.

I am calendar to tell the time and commemorate.

I am a stall to swap and share things in the community.

I am a rainbow bringing different communities together.

I am the library of the past, I am the library of today,

I am the library of the future,

I am the library for everyone,

and I can be whatever you want and whatever you need.

Next time you are around, come and see what a lovely library I can be.
